Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR)

Centered on its founding principles of “Harmony”, “Sincerity”, and “Pioneering Spirit”, Hitachi has been making contributions to the society and meeting the demands of customers through dynamic business activities. Today, with more than 140 group companies and 55,000 employees in China, Hitachi has long been committed to providing the Chinese market with various kinds of products and services, all of which have played an active role in China’s infrastructure development.

To address the challenges that China is now confronting, Hitachi (China) Ltd., as a member of Chinese community, founded the “CSR Promotion Committee” in December 2005 with efforts to effectively carry out CSR activities that conform to China’s realities. The committee mainly aims to define the focuses of CSR activities in China, work out appropriate plans and events, and put them into practices. Hitachi not only provides products and services that can satisfy customers’ needs, but also takes into consideration its Corporate Social Responsibility in aspects of environment, ethics, laws, rights of stakeholders, and on how to jointly develop with local people and enterprises, how to meet the demands of employees. Hitachi shall, based on the above responsibilities, implement and manage open and transparent business activities. Besides, Hitachi has joined hands with a variety of research institutions and universities in China to cultivate excellent local talents.
